— PRIVATE INVESTOR PROPOSAL —

AT A GLANCE

Kumaya World is a connected personal-development world designed to help people move from understanding what they want to change to practicing and living that change in everyday life.

The core world has already been built: the brand, programs, digital platform, interactive experiences, delivery structure, and physical client materials.

Capital Sought — $295,000

Equity — 20% Non-Voting

What Has Been Built — A functioning personal-development world ready to enter the market.

What Comes Next — Commercial validation and the development of a sustainable path to growth.

Identified Industry Gap — Personal development often helps people understand what they want to change, but the bridge from insight to everyday practice can be weak. The experience itself can also feel overly serious or intimidating.

Kumaya World's Response — Interactive games and tools that help people actively practice personal development while making the experience more engaging and enjoyable.
